Unemployment in Canada

Personal Awareness and responsibilities.

I chose personal Awareness and responsibilities because I did this project for business class. We learned about how unemployment happens and the different reasons why it happens. Your behavior in a company, the way you work and habits can get you unemployed. You also need to know when the company is going to go bankrupt, this way you can be prepared to be unemployed and have saved some money to still survive. You need to be responsible for how you live and deal with unemployment and chose a company that will give you an emergency fund if they go bankrupt. During this project I was able to learn about personal Awareness and responsibilities in being an adult.

French revolution podcast project

Communication

I chose communication as my core competencies because during this group project, me and my group mates worked together and slit the work together. We were able to get everything done in time and hoepfully we are going to get a good mark. We helped each other out, did research on a specific french revolution question that we chose. Four of us didn't have any argument, we found joy working together. My digital literacy skills are as good as ever, being able to find good information. During this project I learned about how brutal the French people used to be, gullitine people, putting dead peoples head on a pike and walking around like a parade.

▶ All about me.

▶ Creative thinking

I chose creative thinking as my core competencies because I have to think about something about myself, but also make it very interesting. By using creative thinking, I was able to create something easy to read, and easy to understand. I did this project for business class, it was introduction. I used creative thinking to leave a good impression for the teacher. Thinking creatively can open up someones mind and be creative and think differently which teacher like.
