Self-Reflection

How does the artifact you selected demonstrate strengths & growth in the communication competency?

If anyone taught me something more about digital footprint, it might further develop my communication competency. When you google about digital footprint, it only shows you things like: do not share your personal information, create password strong, but memorable, which is things that every people might know basically. So, if anyone told or taught me with more informations about digital footprint, I might have written more about digital footprint, which might develop my communication competency too.

In what ways might you further develop your communication competency?

How does the artifact you selected demonstrate strengths & growth in the thinking competencies?

Like I said on how might further develop my communication competency, if anyone taught or told me more new things about digital footprint, it might develop my thinking competencies. I only know basic informations about how to be more secure on digital footprint, and I think most of other people do too. But, by the video called "Youth and Media - Digital Dossier", and "Your Dlgital Footprint May Be Unflattering", I have learned some new informations about digital footprint, and I could write about it.

In what ways might you further develop your thinking competencies?

How does the artifact you selected demonstrate strengths & growth in the personal & social competencies?

More informations about digital footprint might further develop my personal and social competencies. By the video I learned some things about digital footprint, so I might want to be more secure and private on social medias and sharing informations on online on purpose (ex. paying online). Also, now I have question about those people who might know more about digital footprint (adult?). Why would they post things that might affect the future even they know about digital footprint.

In what ways might you further develop your personal & social competencies?
