

Methamphetamine

1. It could be used to treat narcolepsy and maintain blood pressure but it isn't prescribed very often for fear of recreational use and that is very understandable seeing as it is one of the most addicting drug out there heroin being the first, cocaine being second and methamphetamine taking third, at least it has a podium finish
2. In all seriousness meth is horrible its side effects consist of agitations, delusions and hallucinations this is three of the mile long list of side effects it really is a toll on your physical and mental health.
3. Methamphetamine can surprisingly be used for medicinal purposes
